Economic Development Appendix

City Profile

The City of Bremerton is the largest city in Kitsap County, only 11 miles across the water from Seattle and just 33 miles northwest of Tacoma off State Highway 16. The Washington State Ferry system conveniently links downtown Bremerton to downtown Seattle, providing unobstructed automobile access, a unique feature, in comparison to other satellite cities around Seattle. State highways tie Bremerton and Port of Bremerton facilities (including the Bremerton National Airport), to Tacoma on the south, and to the Hood Canal Bridge on the north, Puget Sound’s link to the Olympic Peninsula. Exhibit ECD-1 compares Bremerton statistics with Kitsap County and Washington State.

Inventory of the Local and Regional Economy

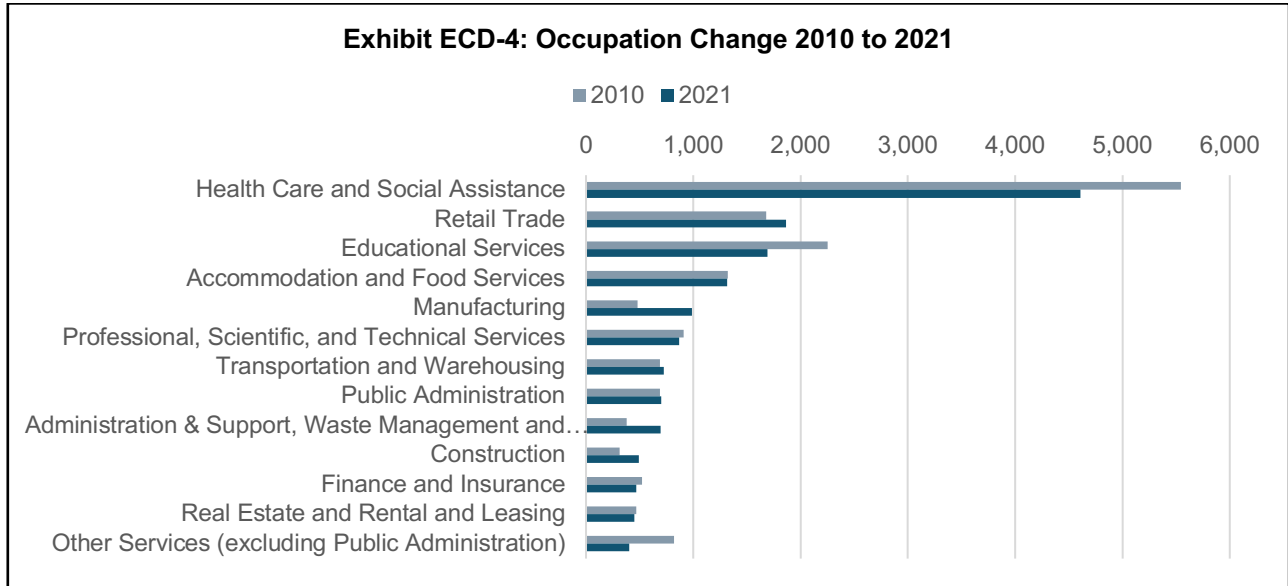

The Puget Sound Regional Council publishes summaries based on data from the Quarterly Census of Employment and Wages, which is reported by employers to the Washington State Employment Security Department. PSRC uses data from March, which is a representative month with minimal seasonal fluctuations. The data in the following table indicates number of jobs (vs. FTEs). Kitsap County Regional Economy

Bremerton is included in the Kitsap County region covered by the Kitsap Economic Development Alliance (KEDA), a public/private nonprofit partnership focused on attracting and retaining businesses in the Kitsap region. Kitsap County ranks high in what KEDA calls essential economic development indicators. These indicators include educational attainment and skilled work force; development of intellectual property; per capita economic output; and median household incomes.

Kitsap has the advantage of multi-modal access to wider business markets (Seattle, Tacoma) – close proximity to rail, deep water ports, airfields, and the interstate highway system with uncongested traffic areas. Kitsap is a recognized leader in several key regional economic indicators: maritime; military; manufacturing; health care; technology; and tourism. Kitsap is also home to the most-dense concentration of engineering talent in the Seattle region

KEDA, in collaboration with the Center for Economic and Business Research at Western Washington University, prepared a 2023 Kitsap Top Employers List. The most frequently accessed report on KEDA’s website, this data is crucial for public and private partners, potential real estate investors, and companies considering expansion or relocation. The report’s employment counts, reflecting total headcount and Full Time Equivalent (FTE) employment as of December 31, 2023, are based on primary data of what was reported to KEDA by responding businesses unless noted otherwise in the report.

The report lists 75 firms with a total headcount of 63,222 employees. As in previous years, the 2023 report continues to underscore the significant role that public sector employment plays in Kitsap County. Public sector organizations make up seven of the top 10 employers in the report. In addition, the public sector represents more than three-fourths of the overall headcount: 49,712 workers across 26 public employers, while the private sector headcount totals 13,510 workers across 49 employers. Both the public and private sector added net headcount in 2023, but the public sector added significantly more, a net increase of 1,154 compared to the private sector’s 188. Much of this can be attributed to the region’s largest employer, Naval Base Kitsap, which accounts for 38,187 workers across military and civilian personnel and which represents 60 percent of all headcount in the report.

Naval Base Kitsap added a net 1,282 workers in 2023, the increase driven by growth in civilian employment. The complete list of 2023 Kitsap Top Employers including top employers by sector can be viewed and downloaded at <https://www.kitsapeda.org/workforce/major-employers> Exhibit ECD-6 reports the top 15 Kitsap County employers.

Naval Base Kitsap

Naval Base Kitsap is a large military installation with discrete geographic locations within Kitsap County. It greatly impacts Bremerton and the county as a whole. Naval Base Kitsap is comprised of multiple facilities and locations, including NBK-Bremerton, NBK-Bangor, NBK-Keyport, the Dabob Bay Range Complex, Jackson Park housing complex, Manchester Fuel Depot, and the Navy Railroad. Naval Base Kitsap provides base support to dozens of military and civilian commands with combined annual payrolls of approximately $2.3 billion. Protection of the integrity of this base is critical to national security and the region’s economy.

Both Military and civilian personnel contribute to the local economy. Spending generates local business revenues, which supports additional jobs and wages, as well as sales and business and occupation (B&O) taxes for the state, county and local municipalities. A substantial portion of employment in Kitsap County is related to the federal government (i.e. DOD), with many of those jobs located in Bremerton. According to KEDA’s 2023 Employers Data, Naval Base Kitsap employed 14,798 active duty and 23,389 civilian jobs.

Future Employment Targets

Future employment targets assigned to Bremerton are 14,175 new jobs between 2024-2044. A land capacity analysis on vacant and underdeveloped land, as well as infill and mixed-use opportunities was conducted. Methodology for the capacity analysis is consistent with the assumptions and formulas in the latest Buildable Lands Report.

Exhibit ECD-7 reports capacity, including pipeline projects, provide sufficient land capacity for Bremerton’s 2044 employment target.
